

Property Rights and Resource Governance Issues and Best Practices

October 31-November 2, 2012

Venue: 1611 N. Kent Street, Suite 700, Arlington, VA

AGENDA

This short course will provide 40 USG foreign assistance practitioners training that strengthens their knowledge and skills in addressing land tenure and property rights (LTPR) challenges in their portfolios. The key objectives include:

1. Exchange experiences and strengthen understanding of LTPR issues, best practices internationally and their application to USAID programming;
2. Introduce LTPR concepts and approaches aimed at improving programmatic interventions in economic growth, food security, governance, natural resource management, conflict mitigation and climate change; and
3. Teach USG foreign assistance practitioners tools to address land tenure and property rights issues, or use land tenure and property rights interventions to strengthen economic development, governance, conflict mitigation and natural resource management objectives.

This course also includes cross-cutting foci on women's rights.
